

Sunburn damage on Echinopsis.

Beitrag von „hansgeorg“ vom 18. Juli 2010, 01:43

Hello,

I normally use green shade net in spring, when sun becomes stronger, until the plants are accustomed to the sun. I remove the net completely latest mid of may. Even currently during the heat wave they get full sun, and water every 3 days. So far I did not find any sunburn yet.

But I think it depends also on the material of the panes. Acrylic double glass scatters light more than normal glass, which is a benefit, and watering also has an influence.

Cheers 🤝

Hans-Georg